Vishada

Learning Objectives

- ⇒ To know the concept of Vishada
- ⇒ To understand the current meaning of Vishada

Introduction

Much description of Vishada is not available in Ayurveda literatures. This spectrum of disease involves Manas of the individual. As per T Harv Eker, popularly known as THE, a renowned entrepreneur and successful public speaker, for any kind of the activities, TFAR (thought, feeling, action and result) should align in proper way, then only right and appropriate action is possible, so that the person will have desired destiny. But, to have appropriate thought to come to one's mind, he should have a right mindset. In other words to say, one should have right mindset to achieve desired destiny which influences right thought, feeling, action and result which aligns the mindset and destiny. As per Charaka, Vishada is considered to be one of 80 types of Vataja Nanatmaja Vikara.

The term Vishada means different meaning as per different Ayurveda textbooks. In the following pages, we are going to have an elaborate understanding on this term. As per Dalhana, Vishada is the term used when an individual is reluctant perform his routine or day today activities with fear of failure.

These are the words of Arjuna to Lord Krishna in Bhagavadgita regarding Vishada. My limbs will give way, my mouth becomes dry, a shivering occurs in the whole body, horripulation occurs all over the body. My bow, Gandiva slips away from my hand, burning sensation occurs all over the body, my mind is whirling and I cannot stand for longer time.

As per Chakrapani, increase of Vishada is seen in decreased state of Vata Dosha. This refers to the increase of Kapha Dosha in the body.

According to Dalhana, Vishada is the term used when an individual is showing hampered activities in terms of physical, mental and vocal activities.

As per Charaka, Vishada is the condition which increases the risk of worsening of the diseases, if he is suffering from any of the trivial or life threatening condition. Vishada can be assessed by the appearance of *Bhaya*¹ (fear) in an individual. The degree of Vishada can be analysed by the degree of appearance of fear in an individual.

Synonyms of Vishada

Jadya, Mourkhya, Avasada, Sada, Vishannata

Nidana of Vishada

मानसः पुनरिष्टस्य लाभालाभाच्चा निष्टस्योपजायते॥ Ca.Su. – 11/45

There is no direct reference regarding the exact causative factor for the manifestation of Vishada. But Charaka Samhita described in 11th chapter of Sutra Sthana mentioned general aetiological factor for the manifestation of any of the Manasika (psychological) disease or disorder. As per this verse, the main cause of any of the Manasika Vikara is obtaining the things which is not liked by that particular individual and not attaining the desires which he is badly liking for. In other words, frequently exposed to situations which he is not at all liking or strange or disgusting situations.

Samprapti of Vishada

There is no direct reference of Samprapti of Vishada. It can be deduced by referring the description of Hina Satva assessment during the analysis of Satva of the individual.

हीनसत्त्वास्तु नात्मना नापि परैः सत्त्वबलं प्रति शक्यन्ते उपस्तम्भयितुं महाशरीरा ह्यपि ते खल्वनानामपि वेदनानामसहा दृश्यन्ते, सन्निहितभय-शोकलोभमोहमाना रौद्र भैरवद्विष्टवीभत्सविकृतसं कथास्वपि च पशुपुरुष-मांसशोणितानि चावेक्ष्य विषादवैवर्ण्यमूच्छोन्मादभ्रम-प्रपतनानामन्यतममाशुवन्त्यथवा मरणमिति॥ 19॥ Ca.Vi. - 8/119

- The person suffering from Vishada usually have *Hina Satva*² (inferior type of mental faculties)

- These people cannot get confidence either by self-suggestion or by the influence of near and dear ones
- Even though, the people are having sound and large body, these people cannot sustain slightest negative experiences such as fear, grief, greed, delusion and ego. When these people hear the stories describing wrath, fear, hate, terrifying and ugly situation or if they come across to the situations where they can see the flesh or blood of animals or human beings, they get depressed, discolouration (extreme pallor), altered state of consciousness, poor and inconsistent mental faculties, giddiness or falling on the ground and sometimes even death

- 1 For example, if an individual is showing fear to family members, but not to strangers, the degree of Vishada may be different and in some other situations, the individual will have fear while talking to strangers, not to family members, this may show the degree of Vishada may be different. The person may have Vishada in a particular time period such as night time or throughout 24 hours or facing particular situation, different. The person may have Vishada is different in all these different time periods.
- 2 This type of Satva is possible when the individual may not have consistency in his M-TFAR-D formula in relation to mental faculties. As per this formula, mindset, thought, feeling, action, result and destiny are not aligned with one's core values or belief systems. As these factors are not congruent to one's core values and belief systems, the person will have low self confidence or self esteem, which leads to the vicious cycle of loneliness leading to the manifestation of depression in future days.
